The Pittsburgh Gazette.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1866.

We feel that an apology is due some of our city and suburban readers for the late hour at which they receive their papers. The delay does not arise from any inattention or negligence on the part of our faithful and efficient carriers, but to the fact that our circulation has increased so rapidly of late that we find our facilities for working off our daily editions totally inadequate to the demand. To obviate this difficulty we have ordered one of Hoe's superior presses, which is now being built for us and will be delivered a few weeks hence. With our new press we trust to be able to get our papers out as soon, if not sooner, than our morning contemporaries.

We here take occasion to thank subscribers for the indulgence bestowed upon us, since we have had but few complaints on the score of late papers. To the public also, is due our hearty thanks for the kind encouragement extended the Gazette since the incoming of the present proprietors. Thus far our success has exceeded our greatest anticipations, and has been unequalled in the history of Pittsburgh journalism. A reference to our crowded advertising columns, and a glance at our largely increased subscription lists will satisfy all that our humble efforts to put forth a first class journal are generously seconded by an appreciating community. The Gazette today is more widely disseminated, upon a better basis, and in a far more prosperous condition than it has been since the remote date it was established.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON progresses in his rhetorical flourishes. His last speech, to be found in another column, is the most interesting one yet published. His blasphemous allusions, bitter denouncement of Congress, attempted explanation of the New Orleans massacre, and dissertation upon the Freedmen's Bureau, are points in his St. Louis speech well worthy of a careful perusal from every thoughtful man. Can it be possible that such language as reported flowed from the tongue of the President of these United States? Such a speech here would do incalculable good to the Union Republican party, and we trust Andrew Johnson may be persuaded to do some of his extraordinary talking during his brief stay in Allegheny county.

THE National Convention of soldiers and sailors will in all probability attract [illegible] of strangers to the city—so [illegible] it will be found impossible to [illegible] accommodation for at least one-[illegible] the number. In view of this, we would respectfully suggest that citizens, who can conveniently do so, make arrangements for receiving into their households as many of the delegates as they can accommodate. There should be lists opened at the Union Headquarters, where loyal citizens willing to extend the hospitalities of their homes to the brave defenders of our country, might register their names together with the number of delegates they can quarter during the sitting of the Convention. Who will take the lead?

BY order of the Republican State Committee mass meetings will be held as follows:

Sept.	10th,	Franklin, Venango county.
"	11th,	Beaver, Beaver county.
"	12th,	Erie, Erie county.
"	12th,	New Castle, Lawrence co.
"	12th,	West Newton, Westmoreland county.
"	13th,	Uniontown, Fayette co.
"	13th,	Warren, Warren county.
"	14th,	Brownsville, Fayette co.
"	14th,	Meadville, Crawford co.
"	15th,	Oil City, Venango county.
"	15th,	Waynesburg, Greene co.
"	24th,	Indiana, Indiana, county.
"	26th,	Brookville, Jeffers n co.

THE investigation of the authorities of Philadelphia leads to the conclusion that the Union League House was fired by an incendiary. The fire originated in a small loft where no fire was used, and none could occur except by design. The presumption is it was fired by some supporters of the President's Policy in revenge for the active participation of the Club in the honors extended to the Southern Loyalists.

THE New York Times confesses some things said by the President in his Cleveland speech are "greatly to be regretted." Well, the conservatives are likely to find, before getting much farther, "they have tied to a man of a turbulent and revolutionary temper, whose hot impulses and coarse energy it will be impossible for them to restrain or even modify.

THE President did not make a political speech at Chicago. The reason was that General LOGAN was stopping at the same hotel, and arrangements were made to call him out in answer to the President. This coming to the knowledge of Mr. JOHNSON and Mr. SEWARD, they concluded to hold their tongues.

SO LONG AS ANDREW JOHNSON professed to be against the rebels, the copperheads poured upon him the strongest epithets in their foul vocabulary; but now that he has become the friend and champion of the same rebels, their admiration of him knows no bounds. He has swung round; they stand fast.

AT Detroit, Mr. SEWARD put the question to vote in a multitude of men, gathered in the street, "Do you want Andrew Johnson for President or King?" Do the Conservatives design bringing that question up in a different form?

MR. THADDEUS STEVENS, in a speech he made at Bedford, a few days ago, announced his purpose to fall back, at the next session of Congress, upon the policy he reluctantly sacrificed for the sake of concurrence in practical measures.

GREELEY ON BEECHER.—The New York Weekly Tribune, of September 5th, contains HENRY WARD BEECHER'S letter indorsing JOHNSON and GREELEY'S reply. See advertisement.

GEN. HARTRANFT has been commissioned a Colonel in the regular army. If he accepts, as he probably will, a vacancy will be created in the office of Auditor General of this State.

MAINE holds its election to-day; and we confidently expect it will respond handsomely to the voice of Vermont, which was heard a few days ago,

THE manner in which the people of Chicago cheered GRANT and FARRAGUT, and did not cheer JOHNSON and SEWARD, was an impressive manifestation of the popular feelings.

[illegible] DR. STEPHEN H. TING has [illegible] suit to the REV. MR. BEECHER.

Philadelphia University of Medicine and Surgery.
The trustees and faculty of the above Medical College have issued "scholarships" at seventy-five dollars each, which entitles the holders to attend lectures until graduation or as many sessions as he wishes.

This renders a medical education cheaper than ever proposed by any University or College in this country or Europe, possessing the same extensive facilities.

There are sixteen Professors and every branch of Medicine and Surgery is thoroughly taught.

The student holding a "scholarship" can enter the college at any time during the Lectures, attend as long as he wishes, and re-enter the Institution as frequently as desired.

Persons wishing to obtain scholarships can apply to L. Oldshue, M. D., Professor of Urino Pathology in the above-mentioned College. His office and residence is No. 132 Grant street, Pittsburgh Pa.

The Laws of Health.
It is useless for State Legislatures to pass laws for the preservation of the public health, if the great law of self-preservation, which depends for its enforcement upon the will of the individual, is suffered to remain a dead letter.

There is scarcely an adult member of the community, of either sex, in this country, who has not seen the testimony in favor of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, furnished over their own signatures by persons of acknowledged eminence in science, literature art, commerce, and every department of business and professional life. These witnesses have declared in the most explicit terms that the preparation is a safeguard against epidemics, a sovereign remedy for dyspepsia, a valuable anti-bilious medicine, a promoter of appetite, a genial and harmless stimulant, a good acclimating medicine, a strengthener of the nerves, a general invigorant, a protection against the deleterious effects of malaria and impure water, and that it imparts a degree of vigor and salubrity to the vital forces which is not communicated by any other of the tonics and stomachics in use. Under these circumstances the self-preservative law of nature should teach every rational person who, either by reason of inherent debility or in consequence of exposure to unwholesome influences, is in peril of losing the greatest of all temporal blessings, HEALTH, the importance of using the BITTERS as a defensive medicine. Dyspeptics who neglect to give it a trial are simply their own enemies. It is guaranteed to cure indigestion in all its forms, and the bilious and nervous will find nothing in the whole range of official and proprietary medicines which will afford them the same relief.

Hostetter's Bitters
Are sold wholesale and retail at very low rates by Fleming's Drug and Patent Medicine Depot, No. 84 Market street, corner of the Diamond and Market, near Fourth street.

Arrival from Europe—Removal of a London Barrister—The Poles Subdued—Berlin Advices.

FARTHER POINT, Sept. 8.—The steamer Peruvian from Liverpool on the 29th, via Londonderry the 31st ult., has passed this point.

The Java from New York, arrived out on the 31st. The principal items of news have been anticipated by the Cable.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Edmund Beals, who has figured so prominently as chairman of the Reform League, having been removed from his position as Revising Barrister for Middlesex, the correspondence is published. The Chief Justice who withdrew the appointment, justifies it on the ground that persons engaged in every form of political office are expected, like judges of the land, to abstain from party strife. He gives his convictions, however, that Beales' political opinions would not prevent him from doing justice in his court, but thinks others might entertain different opinions.

Official intelligence from Ireontsk states that the Polish insurrection is completely quelled The Poles lost thirty killed, twenty-five wounded and four hundred and eighty-five captured. The insurgents are still at Laforge. The outbreak was caused principally by want of food. Liberal grants are provided for the exiles, being appropriated by the authorities.

Steamer Arrived—The Freedmen's Bureau.

NEW YORK, September 8.—The steamer Santiago de Cuba, with San Francisco passengers by way of Nicaragua, arrived.

A Times' Washington special says that General Howard is in receipt of a report from the Assistant Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau of North Carolina, of September third, in which, in speaking of the present status of the colored men he states his intention, which has been partially successful, of breaking up the great number of freedmen's camps throughout the State and concentrating the needy and unemployed at a few central points. It is his opinion that after the first of October but few duties will develope upon the officers and agents of the Bureau in that State, the adjustment of affairs generally having been turned over to the civil authorities.

All the complaints of outrages between the whites and blacks have, during the past month, been referred to the State Courts, and prosecutions have been enforced against offenders of both classes with equal zeal.

He closes his report with the assertion that in the aggregate negro population of over three hunured thousand in the State, no more than two thousand five hundred have failed to place themselves out of the reach of want for the coming year.

The Presidential Party Invited to Visit New Orleans—Gen. Sheridan Appointed Temporary Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau of Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8.—Mayor Monroe and other prominent city and State officials, forwarded a telegram to the President, inviting him and the distinguished statesmen, soldiers and sailors who accompany him, to extend his present trip through the country to include that State and city. They desire to demonstrate to the President exalted and reverent appreciation of the acceptable services rendered in behalf of a reunited nation.

A Bureau Circular, issued to-day, announces General Sheridan as temporary Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau for the State, Gen. Baird having been relieved from that position at his own request.

Cholera-Infected Rags Being Imported to this Country.

WASHINGTON, September 8.—Our Consul at Liverpool writes to the State Department as follows: Large quantities of rags are being exported from this country to the United States. It seems now to be admitted, at least in this country, that all clothing, &c., from persons having the disease of cholera, become infected, and that there is great danger of the spreading of the disease by such clothing. There is not only a possibility, but a probability that infected rags may be mixed in with those which are now being sent over. It would be well for the health authorities at the different ports to look after these importations, and whenever there is any doubt, to take ships to have them disinfected.

From California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Another small expedition to aid the Liberals in Mexico, is said to have sailed last night.

The transcript of the appeal in the Pueblia case, about to be sent to the United States Supreme Court, contains nearly one thousand pages of legal cap.

Southern Delegates Invited to Visit New Brunswick.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., September 8.—The Common Council of this city last night adopted a resolution inviting the delegation of Southern Union men now in Philadelphia, who intend to visit certain Northern cities, to visit New Brunswick, and instructing the Mayor to receive and welcome and care for delegation in the name of the city during their sojourn, as a mark of love, honor and esteem for the true Union men of the South.

The Turf in Vermont.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., September 8.—The fair closed this afternoon. There were several enterprising races. The most important of which were run by the stallion Ethan Allen, and the mare Fearless, for the secretary's purse of five hundred dollars, which was won by Ethan Allen in two straight heats. Time, 2:36 and 2:37.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM BEECHER.

His Position More Fully Defined.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The following letter from Rev. Henry Ward Beecher will appear in all the morning papers:

PEEKSKILL, Saturday Sept. 8.

My Dear Friend:—I am obliged to you for your letter. I am sorry that my friends and my congregation are disappointed at my silence. This feeling, however, has no just grounds, whatever may be the seeming. I have not left, and do not propose to leave or to be put out of the Republican party. I am in sympathy with its aims, its great principles and its army of noble men. But I took the liberty, as an individual, to criticise its temper and to do what I could to secure what I believed and still believe to be a better one.

I am, and from the first, have been, fully of the opinion that the fundamental law, the Constitution proposed by Congress equalizing representation in the Northern and Southern States, was wise, just and reasonable, and that it should be sought by a wholesome and persistent moral agitation. But from the present condition of the public mind, and from the present attitude, I deemed such a change to be practically impossible in any near period by political action, and a plan of reconstruction based upon that, seems to so far more like a plan of adjourning the reconstruction for years at least, with all the liabilities of mischief, which are always to be expected from the settlement of questions in a free nation. It is not the North that chiefly needs the restoration of Government to its normal relations and the full development of the advantages of Union are fallacious or the continuous exclusion of the South from it will breed disorder, make the future re-union more difficult and expose the whole of the freedmen to the very worst conditions of society when can well exist. No army, no government, no civil power, can continue to keep down the South to treat four millions of men justly, if the inhabitants, whether rightly or wrongly, regard these men as the cause, or even the occasion of their humiliation and disfranchisement. But no army, or Government, or power will be required when Southern society is restored, occupied and strong in its own action. Then the negro will be left to be a necessity to Southern industry, and interest will join with conscience and humanity in securing for him favorable treatment from his former masters. We that live at a distance may think that the social reconstruction involved in the emancipation of four millions of slaves is quick and easy as to discourse about it. But such a change is itself one of the most tremendous tests to which industry and society can be subjected, and is favorable beyond measure every advantage possible. The longer, therefore, the South is left in turmoil, the worse it will be for the negro. If there were no other reason; if the white population were not our fellow citizens if we had lost all kindness and regard for them, and all pride in the Union, as a Union of States, and not the Southern states, and confined our attention exclusively to the negro. The case would be strong, beyond my power of expression, for an early resumption of federal relations with all the States. If this is to disregard the negro, then all social and natural laws have been studied in vain.

Neither am I a Johnson man in any received meaning of that term, except that part of the policy which he favors, but with mortification. I have never thought that it would be wise to bring back all the States in a body and at once any more than it would be to keep them all out together. One by one, in due succession, under a practical judgment in each case by a wholesome, theoretical rule, I would have them readmitted. I still think a middle, course between the president's and that of Congress would be wiser than either. But with this my agreement with the President ends.

I have long regretted his ignorance of Northern sentiment and sentiments, and have been astonished and pained at his increasing indiscretions. Unconsciously, the President is the chief obstacle to the reconstruction of the Southern States. It is enough that he is known to favor a measure to set the public mind against it. This is to be deplored. But it is largely owing to his former political conduct. I believe him to be honest, sincere in desiring what he regards as the public good, but slow and unapt in receiving help from other minds. Proud and sensitive, full to obstinacy, resolute to fierceness, intelligent in his own sphere, which is narrow, he holds his opinions inflexibly. He often mistakes the timing of things, which for the sake of acomplishing a good end incautious men are in danger of perverting, I favored, and do still favor, the election to Congress of Republicans who seek the early admission of the recusant States. Having urged it for a year past, I was more than ready to urge it again upon the various reasons which prompted the nomination of representatives to Congress this fall. In this spirit, and for this end, I drew up my Cleveland letter. I deem its views sound. I am not sorry that it was written. I am not sorry that my principles of equality and justice to all, the world rather than the struggle and transmit it to our sons than that the question should be settled on any other terms. We cannot consent to any reaction in favor of the rebellion. We have poured out blood and treasure enough to have it right. We cannot consent to any restoration but one consistent with the principles of the South, who stood by the flag when it needed support.

Arrival of Treasure—The Chiriqui Rebellion.

Boiler Explosion.

About eight o'clock on Friday morning the ten horse power boiler used at the Lowry well on Great Western Run, near Titusville, exploded with a loud report, causing considerable damage to property and inflicting many painful personal injuries. The accident resulted from a collapse of the crown sheet. The boiler was driven through the earth and part of the engine house to a height of seventy feet, on the side hill and a distance of thirty-five rods from the well. Mr. Lincoln, an employee at the well, was standing near the boiler at the time of the explosion, and was struck by the blue flame, which broke one of his legs in three places. Another man named Smith, who was descending the hill, was struck by the jacket of the boiler in his ribs and was severely but not dangerously hurt. The boiler in its passage carried away the roof of the Union well engine house, and one leg of the Webster well derrick; cut off one end of the Andrews tank house, and completely demolished the engine house of the Webster well. Mr. Andrews had just left his tank house. The accident created no little excitement, and congratulations were general that no person was more seriously injured.

Made His Escape.

James Aiken was brought before Justice Lippert, on Saturday, charged with assault and battery, on oath of Charles Short. From the deposition of Short, it appears the assault was unprovoked and cowardly, as Aiken struck the prosecutor, whom he had never seen before, while the latter was in a stooping attitude in his own store, on the Braddock's Field plank road. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused, but as the officers entered his dwelling by the front door, he leaped from a second story window in the rear, and procuring a skiff somewhere in the neighborhood of Ism No. 1, made good his escape by crossing the river to Birmingham. He will doubtless be arrested to-day.

Run Over.—A little boy named Calligan was run over by a carriage on Ross street, on Friday evening, and seriously injured, both legs being fractured below the knees.

Dems on the Rampage—Rough Sentiments Roughly Received—True Statements—They Prefer Alexander Stephens to Thaddeus Stevens.

Quite an enthusiastic meeting of the Johnson Democratic party was held in Diamond Square, Allegheny, on Saturday evening last. The meeting was called to order by Mr. W. T. Farley, and Col. Jas. K. Kerr was chosen President. The Vice Presidents were W. J. Kountz, W. A. Reed, A. Lloyd, R. P. Flenniken, Henry Sproul, W. McCandless, Adam Reineman, A. L. Robinson, W. Matthias, J. T. Stockdale, A. Hartje, C. P. Whilston, Thos. Farley, Jacob Hoehly, John R. Large, B. Crawford, J. Huckenstein, Dr. Hardtmeyer, R. P. Gilly, P. Gerst, W. H. McGee, S. R. Rodgers, Matthew Mentzer, Robt. Means, W. Sutton, Edward Magnin, C. Magnin, Wm. Linn, D. Dahaven, H. F. Boyle, W. M. Stewart, Capt. W. S. Evans, J. Longmore, Jas. A. Lowrie, Jno. Swann, Alex. Greenwalt, J. G. Curtiss, Jacob Stuckrath.

Secretaries—T. Farley, Isaac Stern, Sergt. A. Smith. S. Wood, C. E. Reed, A. L. Braun, James McLaughlin, J. Whitesell, J. J. Haley.

On taking the chair, Mr. Kerr gave thanks for the great work done him, after which he commenced to glorify the American Nation and the Democratic Party, in the inverse order in which they are mentioned. He abused the Radicals with all his accustomed richness and refinement of diction, and plead for the Union rebels with pathos and point, as the rebels can excite only from a Democrat and a brother. The Radicals—Tom Williams, Thad. Stevens, Charles Sumner—are in question not of the same kidney as Jeff. (and Jeff.'s boys in gray) are the only hope of the nation. As this point a rough looking man, in his shirt-sleeves, standing directly in front of the speaker, and evidently under the influence of liquor, cried out, "I am an old soldier! I have worn the blue and have been wounded for my country, and you are a d—d liar!" Mr. Kerr appealed to the people to have the disputant removed. The police were called for, but did not appear. The fellow still continued to call the Chairman "pet names," till, at length, he was hustled out of the crowd, after which the speaker terminated his remarks by a continuance of his abuse of Gen. Williams, Stevens and Sumner.

Wm. Linn, Esq., was the next speaker, and announced, as his confession of faith, the belief that Andrew Johnson was the greatest man now living in this country. He wanted no man in the crowd to call him a liar, and he knew that no gentleman present would apply the epithet to him, because "he never told a lie,

Big pig, little pig, root hog or die."

This little couplet was recognized by the crowd as a pleasant sarcasm, and was received as a "soak," with much laughter. This, the speaker said, is the most singular campaign in our country. Here the radicals who were recently arrogating to themselves all the patriotism in the country, now playing the role of traitors, and the Democrats who had received the unlimited abuse of the "loyal" men were now trying desperately to save the Union. The question at issue is, "shall twenty-five States govern thirty-six?" He then alluded to the two Conventions of Philadelphia, glorifying the first and characterizing the last as a Tom-Williams-Stevens-Sumner-Phelps-Douglas-Anna-Dickenson-Mulatto-Convention. With rare and happy refinement the speaker alluded to Thad. Stevens, "cloven foot," said that Fred. Douglas was the leader of the radical party, and that Anna Dickenson had corresponded with the leaders in a private manner. This last "happy hit" was received as a triumph of inspiration.

Porter R. Sawyer, Esq., of Illinois, formerly of Pittsburgh, was next called and made a series of remarks that had more of dignity and manliness than any that had preceded him. He spoke of the Democratic appeals in behalf of the Southerners and imbruted in the severest strictures on the Northerners. He was convinced that if there were no radicals in the North, if we would only stop abusing the South—in short if we would only adopt the confederate constitution and give Grant a grey coat and a sword, we would be entitled to no peace. He had a words to express his horror of Thad. Stevens, and if he were to choose between the leadership of Thad. Stevens and that of Alexander H. Stephens, he would not hesitate to choose the latter.

Jacob Whitesell, Esq., commencing his remarks with the oft-used but complicated scriptural quotation, "Though our sins be as scarlet, come, let us reason together." The gentleman continued at length on the pathetic and touching theme of the day, and on the conclusion of his appeals, the meeting adjourned.

The meeting was characterized by considerable boisterousness, and rough behavior of various kinds. Apple cores were thrown at the various speakers in lieu of boquets, and one of them narrowly escaped inflicting a black eye on one of the orators.

Death of Captain R. L. Coltart—Meeting of the Bar.

There was a meeting of the members of the Bar of Allegheny County held in the District Court room, at eleven o'clock on Saturday morning, to take action relative to the death of the late Captain Coltart. An organization was effected by calling Colonel R. Biddle Roberts to the chair, and appointing George K. Cochran and Joseph M. Gazzam Secretaries.

The President on taking the chair announced, in a few well-timed remarks, the object for which they had assembled, and after speaking in a feeling manner of the many virtues and excellencies with which the deceased was endowed, he announced the chair ready to entertain any motion that those present thought fit to offer.

On motion of Marshall Swartzwelder, a committee of three were appointed by the chair to draw up resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting.

The following gentlemen were appointed to serve on said committee: Marshall Swartzwelder, Esq., General F. H. Collier and Gilbert McMasters, Esq.

In the absence of the committee, Colonel R. B. Roberts delivered a brief address, eulogizing the character of the deceased as a counsellor and a gentleman.

While the committee on Resolutions, through their Chairman, submitted the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Bar of Allegheny county have heard of the sudden death of their late fellow member, Robert L. Coltart, Esq., with sincere and unfeigned regret, and, therefore, do

Resolve, That in his demise the bar has lost an amiable and accomplished member, the community a patriotic and gallant citizen, and his family a warm-hearted and generous protector.

Resolved, That in token of respect for the memory of the deceased we will attend his funeral and wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That the officers of this meeting be a committee to transmit to his bereaved mother a copy of these resolution, with the assurance of our profound condolence.

Letters addressed and delivered by General Fred. H. Collier and Marshall Swartzwelder, after which the meeting adjourned.

The Presidential Visit—Meeting of the Reception Committee.

The Committee appointed by a meeting of citizens to perfect arrangements for the reception of the President and his distinguished fellow-tourists, met at the St. Charles Hotel on Saturday morning at eleven o'clock, agreeable to adjournment.

The Committee appointed to ascertain what fire companies would participate in the reception, reported six ready to join in the ceremony.

Messrs. Knap & Co., of the Fort Pitt Works, informed Col. Duncan, Chairman of the Committee on Military, that upon the arrival of the President and party, the following salutes would be fired, as prescribed by U. S. Army Regulations: For the President, twenty-one guns; for Vice President and Admiral Farragut, fifteen guns each; for General Meade, thirteen guns.

On motion the following named gentlemen were added to the Committee on Reception: Orlando Metcalf, Joseph R. Hunter, Col. John W. Duncan, Captain W. D. Spilking, W. H. Mackintosh, Dr. Trout, Hon. R. P. Flenniken, John O'Brien, W. J. Kountz, Wm. H. McGee.

The Committee on Carriages and Music reported through their Chairman, Hon. J. Lowry, that the most palatial horse carriages and twenty-five two horse carriages, and four bands of music had been engaged for the occasion.

On motion Messrs. Fraser and Gilfillan were added to the Committee of Arrangements.

General Cass stated that he had received a dispatch from the Presidential party stating that they will arrive to the city via the Pan Handle road.

In accordance with instructions from the Secretary of War, General Whiteley, in command of Allegheny Arsenal, will furnish a proper escort.

After discussing some trivial matters the Committee adjourned to meet to-day at the same place at eleven o'clock.

Another Cutting Affray.

A cutting affair of a somewhat serious character, occurred about one o'clock, on Saturday afternoon, in Gildea's court, off High street. A man named John Hughes owns property in the Court, and this property is occued by a man named Patrick Dean. At the time mentioned, Hughes was talking to Dean about "cleaning up" said premises. Dean became angry, and struck Hughes. The latter had a pocket knife open in his hand, and with it he struck Dean, inflicting an ugly gash, some three inches long, on the left side, over the fifth rib. The cut, though a serious one, is not considered deep enough to be dangerous. Hughes made his escape for the time, but Chief Hague, accompanied by officers Moon, Wrigley and Barry, immediately started in pursuit, and at length discovered him hidden in the hold of a new steamboat at the Monongahela wharf. He had a partial hearing before Mayor McCarthy, and was committed to jail for a further hearing, which will probably take place as soon as the wounded man's condition is placed beyond a doubt.

Stolen.

Some time ago, a girl calling herself Mary Riley—probably an assumed name—went to live in a family residing on Isabella street, Fourth ward, Allegheny. On Friday night she disappeared, taking with her a comprehensive assortment from the wardrobe of the young lady of the house. Her larceny comprised two white cuffs, six linen collars, one pair of ear rings, four white skirts, one carpet sack, one satchel, one pair of drawers, one hoop skirt, one calico dress with white spot, one light lawn dress skirt, one white waist, one light dress, one black silk coat, one light jacket, one white shawl, two pairs of shoes, one parasol trimmed with lace, and one gold breast pin set with hair. No trace of the missing damsel has been obtained, though a warrant has been issued for her arrest.

An Army of Students.—Upwards of fifteen thousand students, representing every State in the Union, have attended the Iron City College of this city within the past ten years; a larger number, probably, than ever before attended any literary institution in the world, in same length of time.

Death of Neeson—Coroner's Inquest.

Patrick Neeson, the young man who was injured on the night of the Fourth of July lag by a stone thrown by J. M. Deemar, conductor on the Oakland Passenger Railway, died at an early hour on Saturday morning. The circumstances of the affair were as follows: At about eleven o'clock on the night mentioned Neeson, with three or four others, all somewhat intoxicated, got on the car of which Deeman was conductor, to ride to the toll gate. Neeson offered a counterfeit fifty cent piece for the fare of the party, and when the conductor refused to receive it, made a considerable disturbance. The conductor strove to quiet him by giving him back his money and charging no fare for the party. Neeson and the others got off near the toll gate and commenced stoning the car, throwing one as stunning and as heavy as those dealt out by our heroes during the war. His remarks were received with frequent and continued applause.

Hon. J. T. Bigham was called upon and spoke at some length, very ably hitting the weak points of the enemy.

Col. T. M. Bayne followed in some spirited remarks of unmistakable tone and full of excellent points. Colonel Bayne dealt some blows against the present enemies of the country,

WHITE EQUALITY.

The Democrats and Conservative Republicans indignantly protest against what they stupidly denominate "Negro Equality." They do not want the blacks, in proportion to numbers, to share equally with whites the political authority of the country. At the same time they are quite as unwilling to equalize the political power of white people in the different sections. Under the old regime all the free blacks and three-fifths of the enslaved were counted in apportioning representation in Congress. In most of the States, until within comparatively a few years past, the free blacks voted for themselves, while it was the constant rule for the whites virtually to do the voting for the slaves. Now, all the blacks are free, and, according to the terms of the Constitution, as it stands, all will be counted in fixing the number of Congressional representatives each State shall have. On this basis the Southern States will get thirty odd members of Congress for their black inhabitants, the white folk doing all the voting. The result is manifest. The political power of each white voter in the Southern States will be materially greater than that of each white voter in the Northern States. Clearly this ought not to be. It is a flagrant injustice, which will be palliated or excused only by those who expect, temporarily, at least, to be advantaged by it.

Under the Constitution, as it now stands, the rebel States, upon being re-admitted, will be entitled to thirteen or fourteen more representatives in the House than before they seceded. This is a large reward to pay for a bloody attempt against the government.

The Congressional plan of Reconstruction does not arm the blacks with political rights. It does propose, however, to make the political power of white citizens equal. What lover of fair play will object to this?

NOW NATIONS.

The Republicans of Bedford county have nominated for Assembly G. W. KINNEY and JAMES H. WEBB.

G. W. SCHOFIELD has been re-nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Erie district.

In Erie county the Republicans have nominated for Assembly Colonel D. B. MCCREARY and Col. O. S. WOODWARD.

Mr. Caleb N. Taylor is the Republican candidate for Congress in the Fifth district, in place of Mr. Russell Thayer, who declined a re-nomination.

The Democratic ticket in Franklin county is, for Congress, J. McDowell Sharpe; for Assembly, Gen. R. W. McAllen.

In the Venango, Mercer and Warren district the Democrats have nominated Dr. John M. Irwin for State Senator.

Theodore Wright is the Democratic competitor of Mr. S. F. Wilson, in the Tioga district.

In Lebanon county the Democrats have nominated Dr. C. D. Gloninger for Congress, and Thos. Kramer for Assembly.

The Democrats of Union county have nominated for Congress Andrew H. Ditt, and for Assembly Capt. Charles D. Routh.

GIVE THEM WELCOME.

To-day twenty-five members of the Loyal Southern Convention, lately in session at Philadelphia, will set out on a visit to the grave of the martyred LINCOLN, taking substantially the route traversed by President JOHNSON and his suite. Of course they will come to Pittsburgh.

For their courage, consistency, and devotion to the Union and to Liberty, they deserve a cordial welcome. By all means let Pittsburgh give them such a welcome as shall express its high appreciation of their deservings.

THE South German Confederacy, which was created on parchment by the late European treaties, promises not to cohere. The arrangement encounters popular dissatisfaction, and a strong tendency is developed to union with the North German Confederacy. In other words, the indications are, unless a war shall be made by other powers to prevent it, that all the Germanic States will crystalize about Prussia, thus constituting a first class power, superior in numbers and resources to France, and only inferior in numbers to Russia of all the European nations.

A MISSISSIPPI PAPER says the South will never forget Hiester Clymer, and one of the essential advantages necessary to enable Andrew Johnson to restore the people of the South to all their former powers and privileges, is his election as Governor of Pennsylvania, a result which every true Southern man should pray to God for as fervently as they prayed for the success of General Lee when he was invading Pennsylvania."

We more than suspect Mr. Clymer has got to that pass the prayers of rebels will not ensure his election.

THE Richmond Dispatch, discoursing of the late Johnsonian National Convention, at Philadelphia, makes some declarations which exhibit more candor than suits the purposes of the President:

"In so far as the address assumes that the people of the South are responsible for the war; that the war was a rebellion; that they are disposed to acknowledge culpability and contrition; that the Federal government acted in self defense, and under the Constitution, &c., it assumes what the people of the South do not feel to be true, and what, therefore, they have no thought of admitting."

PRESIDENTIAL VIOLENCE.

During his tour the President has, in repeated instances, denounced all who oppose his Policy of Reconstruction as traitors, and declared his purpose to put them down by force as the Southern rebels were subjugated. The uncouth violence of his objugations has frightened his conservative supporters, though they have failed to alarm the Radicals. The New York Times urges that "it is a great mistake on the part of the President to assume or suppose that the great body of the people in the North who dissent from his views, are enemies of the Union or are seeking consciously to destroy it."

The Times will find it a still greater mistake for the President to attempt to make good his threats. JEFFERSON DAVIS may find an unexpected companion on the gallows.

A CORRECTION.

A few days ago we stated that the Republican Committee of Crawford county had protested against the nomination of Mr. D. A. Finney for Congress. In this we are mistaken. Mr. Mead entered the protest as Chairman of the Pettis or bolting Committee, and used the names of all the gentlemen associated with him, most of whom, we are assured, are now giving Mr. Finney a cordial support.

Mr. Finney and his advisers are confident the defection of Judge Pettis does not peril the election. We are glad to know this, not only because of Mr. Finney's acknowledged ability, but also because of personal regard for him of many years' standing.

THE Richmond Whig begins to comprehend the difficulties that beset the movement for giving the rebels the control of the government. It says:

"It is not to be expected that a great party that has been built up and consolidated by almost superhuman efforts—that has for its leaders and supporters the leading intellect of the north—its scholarship, its most learned and influential ministers of the gospel—all the Government and other leading State officials, and that was powerful enough to dissolve the President's Cabinet—can be put down without a great effort."

That is a pretty fair conception of what Northern Radicalism consists of. Such elements are not likely to be bribed or terrified, but to work straight on to the attainment of what is just and right in the government.

POLITICAL ITEMS.

ILLINOIS.—The Republican candidates for Congress, are:—At large, Gen. John A. Logan; Second District—John F. Farnsworth; Third District—Elihu B. Washburne; Fourth District—A. C. *Members of the Thirty-ninth Congress.

A sharp, observing gentleman of "Democratic" sentiments and prejudices, who accompanied the Presidential party from Washington all the way around to Chicago, expresses himself as disgusted and discouraged—disgusted with Johnson and discouraged for the prospects of the Copper-Johnson party. He speaks of Johnson as a coarse, vulgar, illiterate demagogue; a man of passion, egotism and prejudice, who set out from the White House on a grand electioneering excursion, confidently expecting to revolutionize the North and West before his return. But, says this gentleman, he has most shockingly botched and ruined the whole thing. He has embittered and aroused his opponents and disgraced and humiliated his friends by his incendiary harangues and vituperative denunciation of Republican Union party.—Chicago Tribune.

A gentleman who accompanied the excursion party from Washington here, says that since leaving New York till their arrival in Chicago, Johnson and Seward punished an awful amount of red-eye, and that the farther they came west the more of it they poured down, as a protection against the popular odium which they met and endured. As whiskey is taxed $2 per gallon, it was some consolation, he said, to know that the treasury derived a considerable revenue from the quantity consumed, which would help to pay off the National debt.—Chicago Tribune.

"The good work goes on," says Secretary Seward. And the telegraph announces that the property of Henry A. Wise, who only a few days ago announced that he was as much a rebel as ever, and that he "scorned" to ask a pardon at the hands of the Federal Government, is being summarily taken from persons who bought it after it was confiscated, and restored to that miserable traitor.

The President was not at all pleased with his visit to Chicago. The crowd did not treat him very obsequiously, and he did not have a chance to disgrace himself last evening by repeating his little speech about "I" and "my policy."—Chicago Journal.

President Johnson's Policy.

A Savannah dispatch says:

"The agent of the Freedmen's Bureau, in Tatnall county, was on Monday night mobbed and driven from the county, with his assistants, and threatened with death if he returned. It is thought that the Bureau will be abolished in that county, which, if true, will cause many similar scenes of ruffianism throughout the Southern States at large."

Another adds:

"Two more late Confederates yesterday received commissions in the United States army, both Captains."

Another from Louisville is as follows:

"A returned Federal soldier with his family arrived this morning from Paducah, Kentucky, reporting the country too hot for him to live in. The Democratic Duvall men are making tremendous efforts to clear out all the Union men. Numerous outrages occur daily, which are not reported for fear of Rebel violence. The United States troops just arrived at Paducah will probably have plenty of work in protecting the interests of the Union party, who are now silenced for fear of mob violence."

Any number of others in the same strain might be given.

COLORADO.—A dispatch from the Secretary of Colorado territory says: "The territorial board of canvassers finished counting the vote on the evening of the 5th inst. General M. Chilicott, the Republican candidate for delegate to Congress, has a majority of one hundred and eight over Hunt, the administration candidate. Governor Cummings gave a certificate of election to Hunt, and a majority of the board of canvassers gave a certificate to Chilicott."

—A soldier of the Government, stationed in Michigan, has been convicted of murder by the United States Circuit Court, and sentenced to be hung. Several years ago capital punishment was abolished by the Legislature of that State, and the criminal cannot be hung within the State jurisdiction. To avoid any conflict with the State law, the murderer is to be executed on the Fort Gratiot Reservation, which is United States property.

—John Perry, a lawyer of New York, committed a few days since by Judge Barnard for contempt of court, in refusing to take his seat when ordered, has commenced an action against the Judge for false imprisonment, laying his damages at $50,000.

And Southern sons upon the fields
Where their forefathers bled,
Will have for freedom's battle cry,
"The brave Confederate dead!"
The conquerors are not those who flaunt
Their banners now in pride,
They are the heroes of the South
For whom they that died.

(ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS ON FIRST PAGE.)

Interesting Occasion—Dedication of a Jewish Synagogue.

The beautiful new Jewish Synagogue "Etz Chayn" Tree of Life, at the corner of Market and Second streets, was dedicated yesterday, with the ceremonies peculiar to the Hebrew faith. The Synagogue itself is a very handsome apartment in the second story of the building. It is plainly but neatly fitted up, and does great credit to the enterprise and taste of the little congregation—only thirty-five members—who have undertaken and successfully carried forward the work. This congregation formerly had their place of meeting in Lafayette Hall. On the destruction of that building, they procured their present location. The building was much dilapidated and needed radical changes. These changes have been made and with results that seemed almost impossible at first.

The new Synagogue will seat about five hundred people with ease. The seats and most of the wood work are grained in imitation of oak and present a very neat appearance. A gallery runs along two sides and across one end of the apartment, and is furnished with seats similar to those below. At the end of the room next to the street, facing the congregation, is the Ark, a high, narrow structure of ash, draped in front with a white curtain. In this ark are deposited the three scrolls of the Law, on the curtain are embroidered in blue Hebrew letters the words, "Crown of the Law." Surmounting the ark is a handsome frame of ash wood, surrounding two tables of white glass, on which are blazoned in golden Hebrew characters the Ten Commandments. Immediately in front of the Ark is the pulpit, and in front of this and seperated from it by a railing is the enclosure for the choir. On each side of the Ark is an enclosed seat for the President and Vice President. The Synagogue is lighted by nearly one hundred gas jets about the walls, and a remarkably handsome chandelier often lights suspended from the ceiling, the fixtures being the work of Messrs. Jarvis, Halpin & Co. of Fourth street.

Many considered it strange that a Jewish dedication should take place on the Christian Sabbath. It is explained by the fact that yesterday was the last day of the Jewish Old Year. To-day is the beginning of the month Fisari, of the year 5,626, from the creation.

The preparations for yesterday's ceremonies were very tasteful as well as peculiar. In the windows and over the doorways hung beautiful wreaths of flowers and evergreens. Over the entrance below was placed a rich festoon of flowers. The table of the ten commandments and the pulpit were crowned with handsome boquets, and all the lights were burning, as is the requirement of the Jewish Church during the time of prayer.

At about three o'clock the congregation assembled, the ladies occupying the gallery exclusively, and the men sitting below, each with his hat on, which struck a stranger as a most indecorous proceeding. At half-past three a procession of the members, headed by the Great Western Brass Band, escorted the President from his residence to the Synagogue. First marched the Preacher, Rev. D. Hertzman, bearing the large scroll of the Laws, crowned with a wreath. Next came G. Graefener, the President, and L. Bergwitz, Vice President, each bearing a smaller scroll. Following came A. Abrams, the Secretary, with the choir, consisting of three men and a little boy.

Arrived at the Synagogue the Pastor knocked at the door, demanding that the Laws be admitted to the new House of God. They were admitted, and at the inner door the Pastor and his companions, with the choir, paused and chanted a prayer, "praying in the law," as they termed it. They then marched chanting down the aisle to the pulpit and laid their scrolls reverently on the desk. The band played, and the three scrolls were then borne through the congregation, the Pastor remaining in the pulpit and chanting. The scrolls were returned and the choir joined the Pastor in chanting "Israel, our God is one." The band played again, while the congregation remained standing, after which another prayer was chanted.

Julian Cohen, Esq., of the Pittsburgh bar, had been chosen to deliver the dedication address, and at this point came forward to the pulpit. He commenced by reading the prayer of Solomon at the dedication of the most magnificent of temples, two thousand six hundred and ninety-nine years ago. The speaker then reviewed briefly and in fitting terms the rise and downfall of the first great temple, and later, of the great temple of Jerusalem. He then spoke of the vicissitudes of the Jewish people, saying that in the darkest days of their history it might truly be said of them:

"The wild dove hath its nest;
The foxes have their cave;
Mankind has its country,
Israel hath its grave."

Through all its manifold persecution Judaism has lived, and for more than three thousand years has maintained its unity. In other days, and in other countries, oppression of every form tried to crush it out. Now a better day has dawned. In every land the Jew is recognized now as having rights. This change is due to the growth of the spirit of freedom everywhere in our day, and here, in America, where this spirit has its fullest growth, has been accorded the fullest and most precious liberty to the Jews.

The speaker here reviewed the duties of the Jewish people, and exhorted them to observe them with the utmost strictness. He besought them to firmly stand by their religion, and presently the mists of bigotry and prejudice would flee before before the bright sun of the nineteenth century. He contrasted the occasion which they celebrated with the present political condition of the country. The dedication of their new temple was typical of renewed and enlarged liberty for their people, while all over our country roll dark clouds of doubt and despondency. Bad, despotic men on every side are endeavoring to destroy the fruits of our terrible war, and bring the sacrifice of thousands of precious lives to nought. Every effort is being made by traitors in high places, and in low, to betray the country anew into the hands of its enemies. He prayed that the elements of discord in our midst might die, and that the dark and growing spot on our sun might disappear; that we might speedily have rulers whose conduct in life should be based on the precious example of the martyred Lincoln, "with malace toward none, with charity for all."

With a fitting peroration the speaker closed his very able and polished address, which had been listened to throughout with the most earnest attention. Verily if that address and the manner of its reception be any standard, Jewish-American patriotism is no dead thing.

At the conclusion of the address more prayers were chanted, and with the appropriate ceremonies the three scrolls of the Law were deposited in the ark, after which the congregation dispersed.

Stole Her Clothing.

Matilda Jameson appeared before Alderman Lynch, on Saturday, and made oath against Jennie Douglas, a colored girl, for the larceny of a quantity of ladies' wearing apparel from the residence of Mrs. Thomas Jones, in Pitt township. It appears that the parties were both employed in the domicil of Mrs. Jones, Jennie in the capacity of cook, and Matilda to attend to the chamber arrangements. The former was discharged some four days since, but on quitting the house she took with her own clothing, a calico dress, jaconet and silk duster, that belonged to the wardrobe of Matilda. The theft was not discovered until two days after Jennie's departure, when Matilda met her on the street decked out in the stolen regalia. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Miss Douglass.

Unmailable Letters.

In justice to a branch of the public service which receives much undeserved censure, we call attention to the fact that there are deposited in our city postoffice, weekly, many unmailable letters, which, according to instructions under the postal law, have to be sent to the dead-letter office at Washington. Unmailable letters are specified to be: Letters attempted to be sent with stamps previously used, or stamps cut from stamped envelopes; unpaid letters for foreign countries, on which pre-payment is required by the regulations; letters not addressed, or so badly addressed that their destination cannot be known; letters misdirected to places where there are no post offices; and letters wholly unpaid (including drop letters).

Charged With Keeping a Bawdy House.—William Loughry appeared before Alderman Strain, on Saturday, and made oath against Maria Manning, Mrs. McCune and a gay young lady who rejoices in the petite sobriquet of the Kid, for keeping and maintaining a bawdy house in Church alley. The parties accused were arrested and held to bail for a hearing to-day. From William's conduct, we presume he was determined to purge this notorious locality, of all its impurities, and in that way enhance the value of some real estate he owns there.

Charged with Theft.—Eliza Brereton appeared before Alderman Lynch on Saturday and made oath against Samuel Lewis for the larceny of a stove valued at $15, from the premises of the prosecutrix, on Wylie street, on or about the tenth day of August, while Mrs. Brereton was absent on a visit to the country. A warrant was issued and the accused arrested. He was released, however, on giving bail in the sum of $200 for a hearing on Wednesday.

Pittsburgh Female College—Splendid Opening.—The fall term of the Pittsburgh Female College is opening with a fine attendance of pupils, not only from our city, but also from all parts of the country. As many continue to come in during the early month of September, and even later, the session promises to be one of the most prosperous in the history of the College. The College richly deserves its splendid patronage. Let its halls be crowded.

The Value of a Comma.—The Erie Dispatch editor was in Philadelphia "doing up" the Convention. In one of his letters he says: "Rev. Dr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, uncle of the arch-traitor John C. Breckinridge, and as thoroughly a loyal man as his nephew, is a Lalligant breeder of treason."

Accident.—Mrs. Martin, a lady residing at No. 103 Carson street, in the borough of Birmingham, fell at her own door Friday night, and injured herself seriously. Her head struck the curb stone, inflicting a wound some two inches in extent.

Held to Bail.—Michael Murray was before Alderman Strain, on Saturday, charged with assault and battery, on oath of John Murphy. Murray was released after furnishing bail in the sum of $5,00 for a hearing to-morrow.

Special Caution.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has become so popular that various parties have set out artfully stating them Mrs. Winslow's. Please take special note that the Mrs. Winslow's of the genuine Syrup is not connected with any other article.

EARLY TELEGRAMS.

Affairs on the Frontier—Indian Depredations on the Frontier—Engagement at Fort Laramie.

NEW YORK, September 8.—A Tribune Leavenworth special says: A report received direct from Fort Laramie states that the Indians on the road in the vicinity of that post have commenced depredations again. Within two or three days of the time he left some fifty or sixty men have been killed and a large amount of property stolen or destroyed. He also reports that the only two tribes on the road who are supposed to be friendly are the Pawnees and a band of Cheyennes.

In the engagements the troops at Fort Laramie had with the savages, the former were obliged to beat a hasty retreat to the garrison, losing some forty men. On the Smoky Hill route they have stopped the stages, and given them seven days to take all their stock off the road.

General Hancock has furnished Major Gen. Cloud with an escort to visit the Pawnees and Omahas for indemnity.

Trotting Match at the Fashion Course.

NEW YORK, September 8.—The bay mare Lady Thorne, and the brown stallion George Wilkes, trotted for $1,500, best three miles in five, at the Fashion Course yesterday. The drizzling rain which prevailed at the time dampened the spirits of the animals, and they did not make their best time, although it is still very good. The race was won by the mare in three straight heats, her fastest time being 2:28¾.

The Fenian Congress at Troy.

NEW YORK, September 8.—A Herald's Troy dispatch says the Fenian Congress continued their secret session yesterday. From some talkative members it has been ascertained that a vote of thanks, tendered to General Banks for his neutrality resolutions, were tabled. It is said that an effort is being made to persuade General Sheridan to resign and accept the command of the Irish army.

Important from Mexico—Maximilian Abdicates in Favor of Prince Napoleon.

NEW YORK, September 8.—A Times' New Orleans special says that a private letter received from Monterey says that Maximilian abdicated in favor of Prince Napoleon on the 10th.

Arms for the Fenians.

NEW YORK, September 8.—At the headquarters of the Stephens wing of the Fenians in this city, arms and ammunition are being received in large quantities.

EDUCATIONAL.

MT. AUBURN
YOUNG LADIES' INSTITUTE.

This School has just concluded its tenth year. Its HISTORY has been one of prosperity and growth from the commencement. The last two years the daily average attendance has been more than two hundred, and many have been refused for want of accommodation.

A NEW BUILDING

is now under contract, to be ready for occupancy at the opening of the Fall Session in September, and it is hoped that hereafter all can be received as pupils who apply.

The LIBRARY, APPARATUS and CABINET are receiving yearly, valuable additions, and the purpose is kept steadily in view to furnish every facility for a thorough course of instruction.

The Faculty consists of four male and eleven female teachers, all experienced instructors in their several departments.

The School is fully graded from the Preparatory department, through the entire course of Academical and Classical studies.

For particulars and Catalogues, address
I. H. WHITE,
25 West Fourth Street,

Hurrahs in ... ...ies.) Thank you, sir. I wish it was in ... ...power to address you under favorable cir... ...stances upon some of the questions that ... ...ntrude upon the public mind at this ... ...ticate and distract the people out of the ...time—questions which have passed through, and ... ...ery order that we have ... ...this we have ... ...which I think as important ... ...just passed by, though the time has ... ...peace. The revolution being stopped, the ... ...the shedding of blood being suspended and stayed, it ... ...office of life being suspended and stayed, it ... ...seems that the time has arrived when ... ...we should have peace—when the blood... ...ning arteries should be tied up. (A voice, ...New Orleans."] Go on, perhaps if you had a ... ...word or two on the subject of New Orleans, ...you might understand more about it than you ... ...now understand more and if you will go ... ...back, (cries for Seward.] I don't know as I can ... ...clearly the cause of the riot at New Or... ...leans, perhaps you would not be so prompt in ... ...calling out New Orleans. If you will take up ... ...the riot at New Orleans, trace it up to ... ...its source, or its immediate cause, you will ... ...find out who was responsible for the ... ...that was shed there. If you will take the ... ...riot at New Orleans, and trace it back ... ...radical Congress, I stand clearing, and ... ...Philadelphia, you will find that the riot at New Or... ...leans was substantially planned. If you will ... ...take up the proceedings in their minutes, ...take up the proceedings in their minutes, ...you will understand that they then knew ... ...you will understand that they then knew ... ...that such a convention was to be called ... ...(cheers) that a convention was to be called ... ...which was extinct by its power having ex... ...pired; that it was said, and the intention was, ...that a new government was to be organized, ...that a new government was to be organized, ...and that the organization of that government ... ...the intention was to enfranchise one portion ... ...of the population, called the colored people ... ...of the population, called the colored people ... ...tion, who had just been emancipated, and at ... ...the same time disfranchise white men. When you read ... ...the speeches that were made, or take up the ... ...facts on Friday and Saturday before that Con... ...vention sat, you will find that ... ...speeches were made incendiary in their ... ...character, exciting that portion of population ... ...—the black population—to arm themselves ... ...and prepare for shedding blood. (Answers—) ... ...That's so" and cheers.) You will also find that ... ...that Convention did assemble in violation of ... ...law, and the intention of that Convention was ... ...to supercede the recognized authorities in the ... ...State of Louisiana, which had ... ...been recognized by the government of the ... ...United States, and every man engaged in the ... ...rebellion, in that convention, with the inten... ...tion of superceding and upturning the civil ... ...government, which had been recognized by ... ...the government of the United States, I ... ...that he was a traitor to the constitution of the ... ...United States, (cheers,) and hence you find ... ...that another rebellion was commenced, hav... ...ing its origin in the radical Congress. ... ...These men were to go there, a government ... ...was to be organized and the one in existence ... ...was to be superceded, set aside ... ...in Louisiana, was to be superceded, set aside ... ...and overthrown; you may talk to me about ... ...New Orleans, and then the question was to ... ...come up when they had established their Gov... ...ernment, a question of political power, which ... ...defined contest, set up in violation of the law ... ...and without the will of the people, then, when ... ...they had established their Government, and ... ...extended universal or impartial franchise, as ... ...they called it, to this colored population. ... ...Then this Radical Congress was to determine ... ...that a Government established on negro votes ... ...was to be the Government of Louisiana. ... ...(Voices—never, cheers and hurrahs for ... ...Andy.) so much of toe New Orleans riot, ...and there was the cause and the origin of the ... ...blood that was shed, and those who ... ...that was shed is upon their skirts and they ... ...are responsible for it. (Cheers.) I could tree ... ...this thing a little closer, but I would not do it ... ...here to-night, but would talk about New ... ...Orleans, I will talk about the causes and conse... ...quences that resulted from proceedings of that ... ...kind, perhaps, as I have been interrogated here ... ...and you have provoked questions of this kind, ...though it does not provoke a few wholesome ... ...things that have been done by this Radical ... ...Congress. (Cheers.) In connection with New ... ...Orleans and the extension of the elective fran... ...chise. I know that I have been traduced ... ...and abused. I know it has come ... ...in advance of me here as it has elsewhere, ...that I have attempted to exercise arbitrary ... ...power in resisting laws that were intended to ... ...be forced upon the Government. (Cheers and ... ...cries of "hear.") Yes, that I had exercised ... ...the veto power fully for you; that I had disa... ...pproved the party that elected me, and that I ... ...was a traitor (cheers) because I exercised the ... ...veto power in attempting, and did arrest for a ... ...time a bill that was called a freedman's bu... ...reau bill, (cheers,) yes, that I was a traitor, ...and I have been traduced, I have been slan... ...dered, I have been maligned, I have been call... ...ed Judas Iscariot and all that. Now, my coun... ...trymen here to-night, it is very easy to fir... ...dulge in epithets; it is very easy to call a man ... ...Judas and cry out traitor, but when he is call... ...ed upon to give arguments and facts he is very ... ...often found wanting. Judas Is. riot! Judas! ... ...There was a Judas once, one of the twelve apos... ...tles, oh, yes. The twelve apostles had a Christ. ... ...(A voice, "And a Moses, too." Great Laughter.) ... ...The twelve apostles had a Christ, and ... ...He never could have had a Judas unless he ... ...had had twelve Apostles. If I have played ... ...the Judas who has been my Christ, and I have ... ...played the Judas with Wendell Phillips! ... ...Was it Wendell Phillips? Was it Chas. Stevens? ... ...Was it Wendell Phillips? Are these the men? (Hisses and cheers.) Are these the men ... ...that set up and compare themselves with the ... ...Saviour of men and every body that differs ... ...with them in opinion, and that try to stay and ... ...arrest their diabolical and nefarious policy ... ...—that is so" and cheers.) You will also find that ... ...that is to be denounced as a Judas (Hurrah ... ...for Andy and cheers.) In the days when ... ...there were twelve Apostles, and when there ... ...was a Christ while there were Judases, there ... ...were unbelievers. (Voices, "Hear them, great ... ...unbelievers in Christ. Men who persecuted and ... ...slandered, and brought him before Pontius Pilate, ...and preferred charges, and condemned, and ... ...put him to death on the Cross to satisfy unbe... ...lievers, and these same persecuting, diaboli... ...cal and nefarious men to-day would persecute and shed the blood of innocent men to ... ...carry out their purposes. (Cheers.) But let ... ...me tell you. Let me give you a few words here ... ...to-night. But a short time since I heard some ... ...one say in the crowd that we had a Moses. ... ...(Laughter and cheers.) Yes, there was a ... ...Moses, and I know sometimes it has been said ... ...that I have said that I would be the Moses of ... ...the colored man. (Cheers.) Well, so far as ... ...I have labored as much in the cause of Eman... ...cipation as any other moral mail living, but ... ...while I have striven to emancipate the color... ...ed man, I have but emancipated your boys ... ...from their original owners to a new ... ...set of task master. (Voice, never! and cheers.) ... ...I have been laboring for years to emancipate ... ...I have been laboring for years as opposed to seeing ... ...them and their children transferred to a new set of task masters, ...thus transferred to a new set of task masters, ...to be worked with more rigor than they had ... ...been worked heretofore. Because I have exer... ...cised the veto power I have committed a high ... ...offense, and therefore ought to be impeached. ... ...(Voices, never,
